Description of the Event:

“CODEMASTER” was a competitive coding event organized by the Cyber Security and Ethical Hacking (CSEH) club. With a lineup of 10 handcrafted questions, ranging from 4 easy, 3 medium, to 3 hard challenges, participants embarked on a journey of problem-solving prowess. Each question was handcrafted by the skillful club members, aimed to be beginner-friendly, fostering a supportive environment for coding novices to explore and learn. Through this event, students were encouraged to unravel the practical applications of coding in tackling real-world problems, igniting their passion for computational thinking and innovation. The event was conducted on online platform called Hackerrank.com for 3 hours. "CodeMaster" aimed not only to discover the best coders in college but also to inspire and support newcomers on their coding journey.

The poster features the New Horizon College of Engineering logo and the CSEH Club logo. It lists event details: a solo event with logic-based questions, laptop use allowed, and coding in any language. The event is on 18 January 2024 at 10:00 AM in the ISE Department. Contact information for Anish Rai and Tejhaaswini is provided. A QR code for registration is included.
