Number of External Participants	-
Expenditure Amount, if any	Rs.3,000/-
Remarks	-
Objective	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Educating Startups by providing insights into innovative design frameworks to enhance their product or service development process.2. Encourage startups to adopt a culture of innovation by introducing them to cutting-edge design methodologies, tools, and best practices.3. Provide a forum for startups to discuss common challenges they face in technology transfer and product development, and brainstorm solutions collaboratively4. Feature success stories and case studies of startups that have effectively utilized innovative design frameworks and technology transfer strategies, inspiring participants and motivating them to pursue their entrepreneurial goals.

Benefit in-terms of learning/skill/knowledge obtained

Participants gained a deeper understanding of various design frameworks and methodologies used in product or service development, such as design thinking, lean startup, agile development, etc. Participants gained knowledge about the process and strategies involved in technology transfer, including licensing agreements, intellectual property management, and collaboration with research institutions or established companies. Exposure to innovative design frameworks and success stories of other startups inspired participants to think creatively, explore new ideas, and adopt a more innovative approach to their own ventures.
